

Characteristics of My Work

- Large administrative databases of health care usage
- National-level environmental monitoring data
- Complex statistical models to assess health effects of air pollution and other environmental exposures
- Computing with in-house cluster containing heterogeneous computing environment
- Scheduler/queueing system determines available resources at any given time

The threadpool Package